Independent People is quintessential Laxness. It evokes an era of Icelandic history that has past, and brings that era to life with grace and power. Visiting the area where the story takes place, in the south near Vík, it was very easy to imagine the people who eked out a living there a hundred years ago.

Laxness in Translation: Independent People

Halldór Kiljan Laxness; 23 April 1902 – 8 February 1998) was an Icelandic writer and winner of the 1955 Nobel Prize in Literature and the favorite son of Icelandic natives. I asked myself why I continued to read the story as there is little mystery yet the description of the land and its people kept me hooked.
